International Association for Relationship Research

Call for Abstracts: 2027 IARR Mini-Conference in Brazil

The International Association for Relationship Research (IARR) invites researchers, faculty members, postdoctoral scholars, and students to participate in its 2027 Mini-Conference, hosted by the Pontifical Catholic University of Campinas (PUC-Campinas), Brazil.

The conference will bring together relationship researchers from around the world to share scientific findings, discuss advances in relationship science, and develop new international collaborations.

Confirmed keynote speakers:

Arthur Aron, Stony Brook University, USA

Ashley K. Randall, Flinders University, Australia

Mónica Guzmán-González, Universidad Católica del Norte, Chile

Vicente Cassepp-Borges, Universidade Federal Fluminense, Brazil

Additional keynote speakers will be announced.

Call for Abstracts

We welcome submissions addressing romantic relationships, including attachment, intimacy, relationship satisfaction, commitment, sexuality, conflict, relationship maintenance and dissolution, psychological interventions for couples, and other topics within relationship science.

Three presentation formats are available: symposia, oral presentations, and posters.

Important dates:

November 23, 2026: Abstract submissions open.

February 5, 2027: Priority Review 1 deadline; notifications by February 15.

February 26, 2027: Priority Review 2 deadline; notifications by March 15.

April 9, 2027: Final submission deadline; notifications by April 23.

Early-bird registration deadline: January 15, 2027.

Special early notification opportunity: Authors who submit their abstracts by December 15, 2026, will receive a decision before January 15, 2027, allowing them to register at early-bird rates.

Submissions will be reviewed as promptly as possible after receipt, helping international participants arrange travel, funding, and visa requirements.

Abstract submission is free, and IARR membership is not required to attend.

Conference registration includes access to the scientific program, two lunches, coffee breaks throughout the three days, conference materials, and a social event.

Learn more and submit your work:

Conference website: https://www.iarr2027.com/

Abstract submission guidelines: https://www.iarr2027.com/abstracts

Registration: https://www.iarr2027.com/registration

We look forward to welcoming the international relationship research community to Brazil!

Please share this announcement with colleagues, students, and research networks who may be interested in participating.